TTI and Mouser exhibit the best in class design to supply chain services at Southern Manufacturing & Electronics 2015

Focuses on New Product Introduction, Value-Added Services & Market Expertise

January 2015 – TTI, Inc., the world's leading specialist distributor of passive, connector, electromechanical and discrete components, will be exhibiting on Stand J-97 at Southern Manufacturing & Electronics 2015 with sister Berkshire Hathaway company, Mouser Electronics, to demonstrate their ability to provide the best design chain to supply chain distribution solutions in the market.

The two companies offer a complete go-to-market solution to customers that is both complementary and synergistic: Mouser specialises in the rapid introduction of the newest products from leading suppliers across the globe and ships parts on rapid turnaround with no MOQ, facilitating the design and development stages of new products; TTI offers knowledgeable, face-to-face engineering-level support and even joint supplier meetings as a project develops, all the while assuring commitment to breadth and depth of inventory. Sophisticated logistics programmes maximize customer profits by ensuring optimum management of inventory and continuity of supply. TTI is registered to ISO 900:2000 standards and offers many value-added services to commercial and defence customers, including assembly at its own dedicated facility which holds a Six Sigma quality performance accreditation.
