General Product Description:

Pin and Socket Contacts

Description of Changes

TE Connectivity is issuing this Product Change Notification (PCN) to inform customers of a minor process change involving the detergent used during the cleaning operation prior to the plating process. This change is limited to the detergent utilized within the manufacturing process and does not involve any modifications to product design, materials, performance requirements, or manufacturing locations. This is a notification only.

Reason for Changes:

Product improvement. The detergent used in the pre-plating cleaning process has been discontinued by the supplier and is being replaced with a direct substitute identified by the same supplier. The change is limited to the pre-treatment cleaning step used to remove oils, grease, and other contaminants prior to plating. The detergent is fully removed through subsequent rinse operations before plating begins. No changes are being made to plating chemistry, process parameters, equipment, process sequence, product design, materials, specifications, plating requirements, qualification requirements, or manufacturing locations. Consequently, there is no impact to Form, Fit, Function, performance, reliability, or product compliance. Other than the detergent replacement, no process changes are being implemented.
